LUKOIL-SPONSORED PUBLIC FACILITIES OPEN IN STAVROPOL

During his today's work trip to Stavropol, President of LUKOIL Vagit Alekperov and the Governor of Stavropol Region Vladimir Vladimirov visited the city's public facilities, some of which were constructed with financial support from LUKOIL.

Thus, a pedestrian green space at the Alexander Square and the first of the North Caucasian history parks – exhibition center and museum "Russia - My History" – was opened as part of the Cooperation Agreement between the company and the regional government.

Vagit Alekperov and Vladimir Vladimirov took part in the tree planting ceremony, when onsite the "Russia - My History" Museum, which is unique for the country's southern parts in terms of its scale and vast assortment of interactive solutions.
