LUKOIL PRESENTS HEALTH, SAFETY AND ENVIROMENTAL ACHIEVEMENTS

LUKOIL presented its latest developments in the field of industrial and environmental safety at Oil and Gas Safety – 2017: Refining and Petrochemistry, an international forum organized with the support of the company at the Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Representatives of Russia's federal authorities for the control of natural resources use and environmental, technological and nuclear supervision, the Ministry of Natural Resources, the Ministry of Civil Defense and Emergency Response, higher education institutions and vertically integrated oil companies – all gave a high appraisal of the efficient techniques and tools offered by LUKOIL to manage and mitigate equipment failure risks, casualties, accidents and environmental damages.

As Alexander Rybas, State Secretary – Deputy Head of the Federal Service for Environmental, Technological and Nuclear Supervision, put it, "LUKOIL's accomplishments as regards industrial and environmental safety and reliability can be widely applied across the oil and gas sector, thus increasing its competitive advantage in the global market".
